Know-Before-You-Go 2024-2025

Buses and Parking Book your bus to arrive at The Sheldon 20 minutes before showtime, and to leave The Sheldon 1 hour after showtime. We recommend your bus approaches from Spring Avenue. Staff and volunteers will be waiting to help your bus park in the appropriate place and give further instructions. Please stay on the bus until you have received those instructions. Buses park for free on the street in front of The Sheldon and in the lot. Cars park for free in the West Lot, on the right side of The Sheldon if you are facing the steps.

Tickets & Payment Physical tickets will not be sent, but the seats reflected on your invoice will be reserved together, and you will be seated by ushers in the concert hall when you arrive. Your payment is due 30 days before the show. Payment online with a credit card is the preferred method, but your school can also send a check. Please contact the Director of Education if you have unusual circumstances. A Ticketing and Payment Policies Document is included with your invoice.

Concert Manners Please coach your students in good concert manners before coming to The Sheldon Concert Hall. Good audiences love to listen to music and show their appreciation with applause, usually at the end of an entire piece and occasionally after a good solo by one of the musicians. Food and drink are prohibited in The Sheldon Concert Hall. Any device that makes noise is a distraction for both the performers on stage and your fellow audience members and should be put away. No photos or video are allowed during the performance. Restrooms are on the same level as the concert hall near the Art Galleries. Please encourage students to use restrooms at school or to use Sheldon restrooms before the concert begins. If a student does need to use the restroom during the performance, the best time to get up is between musical numbers.

Art Galleries The Sheldon features several art galleries in the Emerson building that adjoins the Concert Hall. Art galleries provide a place for contemplation, tranquility, and exposure to new ideas and means of expression. The Sheldon's art galleries are dedicated to showing local, national, emerging, and established artists in a full range of mediums from photography, painting, printmaking, sculpture, and video. You are invited to contact The Sheldon and add a 30-minute visit to the galleries when you attend a Sheldon Education Program. This season the fall exhibition is open September 27-January 18. The spring exhibition is open March 8-May 4. In between, the gallery is closed for installation and is not available for tours. Tours are available on a first-come, first-served basis, and we can accommodate 35 students at one time. Groups with 70 students can be divided into two consecutive tours, totaling 60 minutes.

Health + Safety Please visit our website for the most up-to-date information on health and safety measures. To communicate the need for accessible seating, please indicate so on your reservation form. The Sheldon staff can direct you toward elevators. We recommend students that might have sensory or stimulation issues bring their own noise-cancelling headphones, but if you are surprised by a need for them, we have some in the box office.

Show Description and Curricular Connections

About the Show

Drums and Dances of Africa is an immersive experience in West African culture. Afriky Lolo brings djembes and dunun drums that resonate in the concert hall as Diádié Bathily and members of his dance troupe perform. They teach the significance of the masks, dances, and music, and invite students to engage with the music and dance.

The Arts as Culture, History, and Connectors
from National Core Arts Standards on Artistic Literacy

Philosophical Foundations

Throughout history the arts have provided essential means for individuals to express their ideas, experiences, feelings and deepest beliefs. Each discipline shares common goals, but approaches them through distinct media and techniques. Understanding artwork provides insights into individuals' own and others' cultures and societies, while also providing opportunities to access and express, and integrate meaning across a variety of content areas.

Lifelong Goals

Artistically literate citizens know and understand artwork from varied historical periods and cultures, and actively seek and appreciate diverse forms and genres of artwork of enduring quality and significance. They also seek to understand relationships between the arts and cultivate habits of searching for and identifying patterns, relationships between the arts, and other knowledge.

The Sheldon's Goal

We provide access to age-appropriate concert experiences that engage and inspire the student audience to pursue artistic literacy and all the benefits it offers.

Performers

Diádié Bathily, Artistic Director of Afriky Lolo

Diádié Bathily (pronounced Jah-Jay) is a Master dancer from the Cote d'Ivoire, West Africa. He immigrated to the United States in 1998. He has a strong personal and professional desire to share the beauty, culture, and passion of West African dance with Americans, especially African Americans.

Diádié Bathily has danced professionally for over 30 years and has performed professionally for Marie-Rose Guiraud's Les Guirivoires, Adama Drame, Wara Danse (his company in the Cote d'Ivoire), and Diádié Bathily Dance (in the United States). Bathily is an experienced teacher who specializes in traditional dances from Mali, the Cote d'Ivoire, Senegal, and Ghana. He teaches and performs in St. Louis elementary and secondary schools and at local universities, colleges, and dance studios throughout the Midwest. Throughout the school year, Bathily teaches and gives workshops at local elementary and secondary public schools, at Washington University and at the University of Missouri in St. Louis. Bathily also choreographs original pieces for university dance companies.

Afriky Lolo

Afriky Lolo, founded and led by Diádié Bathily, is a West African dance non-profit corporation that is committed to bringing West African dance and culture to the St. Louis, Missouri, community through teaching and performing.

Diádié Bathily formed Afriky Lolo in 2003, which became a tax-exempt, non-profit corporation in 2007. The Company has 75 dancers – ranging in age from 6 to over 60 and 8 drummers. Afriky Lolo, meaning African Star, performs traditional West African dance at community events throughout the year. The Company's annual performance is its largest event.

Afriky Lolo performances are choreographed, staged, costumed, and directed by Diádié Bathily. These performances reflect the rich culture of West Africa, and each dance performed by Afriky Lolo is enhanced by traditional West African costumes. Costuming is a very important aspect of traditional West African dance. Bathily travels frequently to the Cote d'Ivoire and Mali in order to obtain authentic West African cloth, beads, and masks for the costumes worn by the dancers and drummers. All costumes are sewn by Bathily and/or specialists in West Africa.

Afriky Lolo continues to grow its public recognition, its teaching opportunities and its performance opportunities. Bathily has seen African American children inspired by their heritage, excited by the opportunity to participate in this dancing, and even reporting more interest and energy in school as a result.

Drums and Dances of Africa Vocabulary

Zaouli mask dance- Zaouli is a traditional dance of the Guro people in central Cote D'Ivoire. The dance was developed in the 1950's and is performed by a male member of the community during funerals and celebrations. The dance is seen as a tool of unity within Guro communities and is believed to increase the productivity of a village.

Temate dance- The Temate dance, translating to "the most beautiful dance," comes from the Wobe people of the western edge of Cote D'Ivoire. The Temate dance is a joyful story telling of rice, from the seeding to the harvest. Traditionally, this dance is performed by young women who mime the actions of cultivating the rice field; however, now the dance is performed by both male and female, young and old.

Diansa/Jansa dance- Originating in Kayes and Kita of Mali, the Kansoke people developed the Diansa Dance, also known as the Jansa Dance, which is one of the most popular dances in the region. Starting slowly and picking up speed, this dance takes place at night and is for all people and occasions. Today this dance is performed in 5 countries throughout Western Africa.

Djembe drum- The Djembe drum is a rope-tuned goblet shaped drum made with wood and covered in rawhide, usually goat skin. The drum is played using bare hands.

Dunun drums- Dunun is the name for a family of drums which consist of, largest to smallest, Dununba, the Sangban and the Kenkeni drums. These drums are most popularly used by the people of West Africa. The drums are rope tubes and cylindrical with rawhide (usually cow or goat) at both ends and played with a stick.

Zaouli mask- The mask worn for the Zaouli dance. It is meant to embody feminine beauty, with its focal point being a woman's face, surrounded by depictions of snakes and birds.

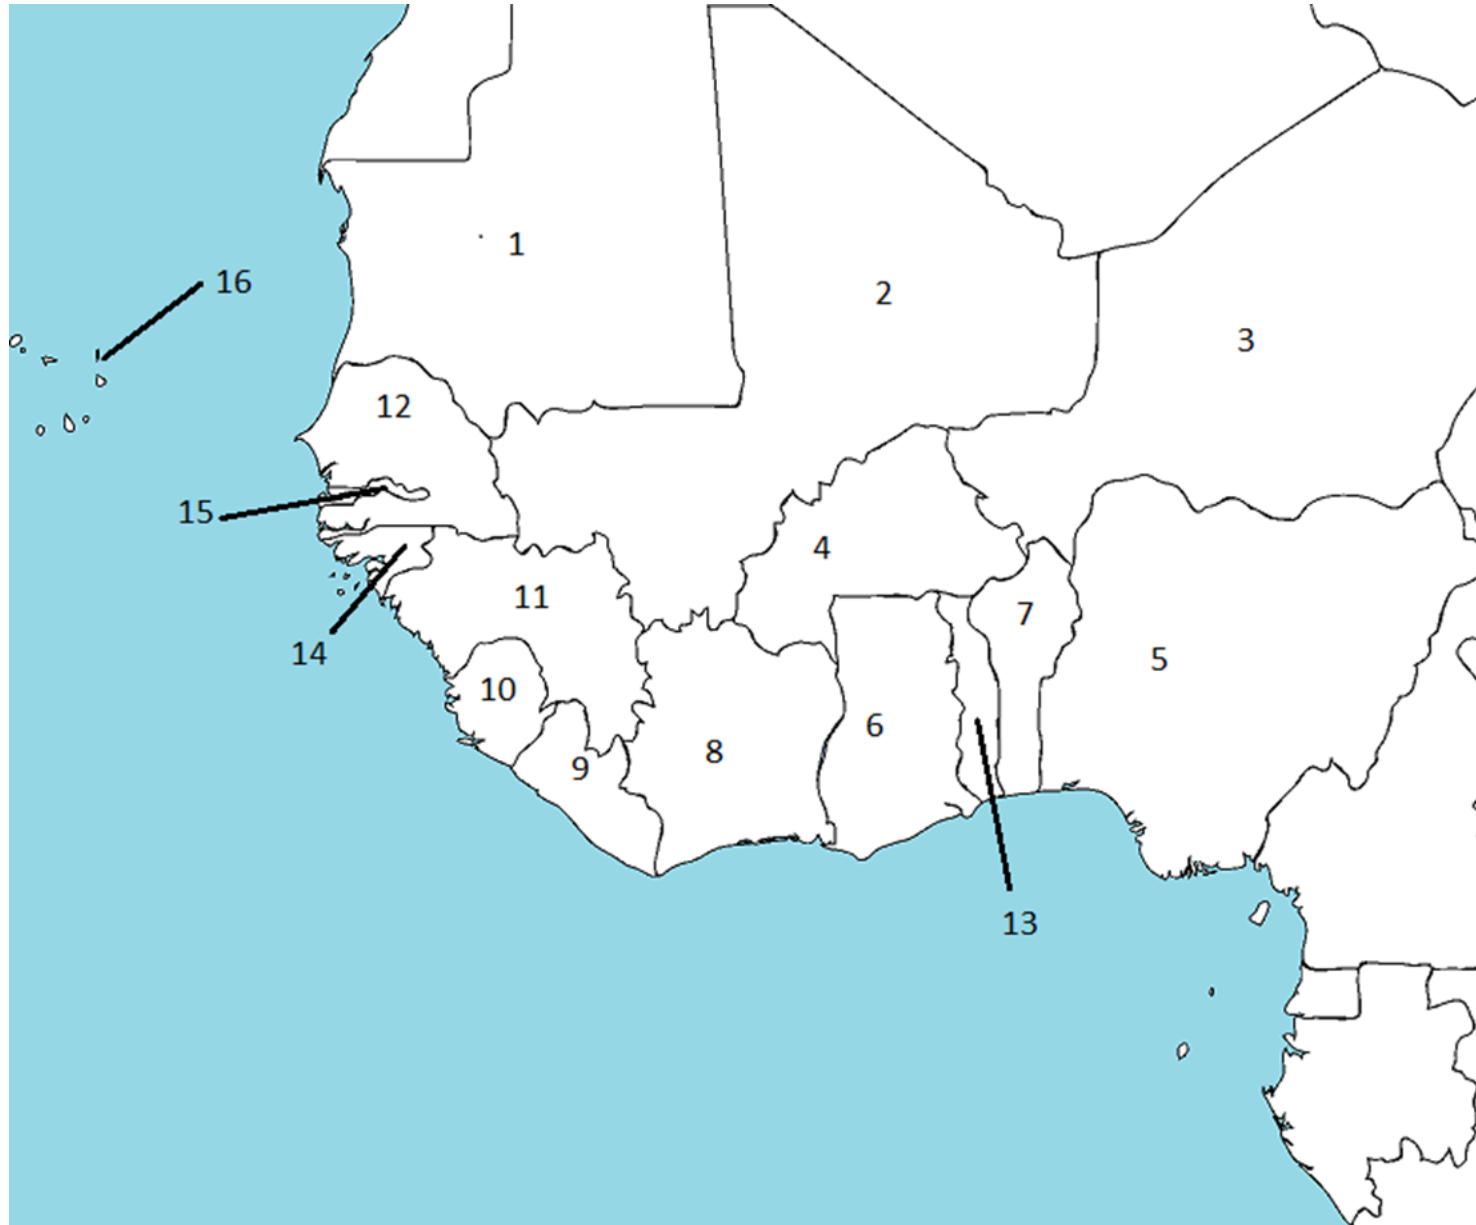

Africa & The Ivory Coast

Africa is the second largest continent and the oldest inhabited territory on Earth. In fact, if you were to combine the United States of America, India, China, Europe, and Japan, they would all fit into the vast continent of Africa. At 11.73 million square miles, Africa is the home of 1.1 billion people. Anthropologists have found evidence of human life in the region dating as far back as 7 million years ago. The continent has seen the rise of massive ancient civilizations, survived horrific historical events such as the slave trade and colonialization, and experienced liberation. Through all of this, Africa has maintained a rich sense of African culture and heritage, which dates back centuries. Comprised of 55 countries, the most recent being The Republic of South Sudan (2011), it is crucial to remember that Africa is comprised of a wide variety of different ethnicities, religions, and languages (an estimated 2,000). Africa is a continent with countless unique and vibrant cultures. These cultures manifest themselves in things like cuisine, folklore, clothing, music, and dance, to name a few. Drums and Dances of Africa is based on Western African culture. The region of Western Africa includes Benin, Burkina Faso, the island of Cape Verde, Gambia, Ghana, Guinea, Guinea Bissau, Cote D'Ivoire, Liberia, Mali, Mauritania, Niger, Nigeria, Senegal, Sierra Leone, and Togo. The performance focuses on the culture of Cote D'Ivoire, also known as the Ivory Coast.

Cote D'Ivoire gets its nickname, "the Ivory Coast" from the region's successful trade in elephant tusks. Although humans have inhabited Cote D'Ivoire as early as 15,000-10,000 B.C.E., the French colonized the country in 1893. By 1960, Cote D'Ivoire had won their independence back. While French is still the official language, there are as many as 65 dialects spoken and a deep sense of their own culture that manifests in expressions like African drums and dances, amongst other things. Each ethnic group (there are around 60!) has its own unique way of using music, usually consisting most heavily of percussion instruments, and dance to express themselves.

About the Sheldon

The Sheldon Concert Hall is a historical building that was constructed in 1912 by the famous architect, Louis Spiering. It was originally home to the Ethical Society of St. Louis and is named after Walter Sheldon, founding member of the Ethical Society. It was purchased in 1991, becoming the Sheldon Art Foundation, with the first season presented in 1994. The education programs began in 1999 and continue to inspire young audiences today.

In 1998 The Sheldon Art Galleries were opened in the building next door to the concert hall, joined by a glass bridge. Interestingly, the building used to be a parking garage before it was renovated for the Sheldon galleries and event spaces.

Concert Hall Eye-Spy

Acoustic Materials

The Sheldon is known for having perfect acoustics, which means that sound travels really well – even without amplification! The architect of The Sheldon carefully considered shape, size, and materials used in order to make the perfect concert hall. Hard and smooth surfaces reflect sound back to the listener and soft surfaces absorb sound.

The wood floor beneath your feet acts like the belly of a REALLY large guitar, vibrating with the sounds from stage. What you cannot see is that under the floor is open space and a dirt floor. The open space allows the floor to freely vibrate and the dirt floor absorbs the extra vibrations that pass through.

Reappearing patterns

Louis Spiering, architect of The Sheldon, gave the room his own personal touch through this geometric pattern found on the concert hall doors. This pattern is also found elsewhere in the concert hall. See if you can find the pattern when you visit!

Stage extension

If you look closely you will notice a seam where an extension to the original stage was added. The first row of original seats was removed to make room for this stage.

Stained glass windows

When you walk in the concert hall you won't be able to miss the beautiful stain glass windows creating a kaleidoscope of colors! Do you notice the contrasting designs? The windows on opposite sides of the stage were created by different artists at different times.
